DATA PRIVACY NOTICE

Alan Crosbie and Associates complies with the 1998 Data Protection Act and GDPR regulations 2018, this Policy describes our procedures for ensuring that personal information about patients is processed fairly and lawfully.

In order to provide you with a high standard of dental care and attention, we need to hold personal information about you. This personal data comprises:

- Personal details such as your name, age, address, telephone numbers, and your general medical practitioner;
- Your past and current medical and dental condition;
- Radiographs, clinical photographs and study models;
- Information about the treatment we have provided or propose to provide (and its cost);
- Notes of conversations or incidents that might occur for which a record needs to be kept;
- Records of consent to treatment;
- Any correspondence (relating to you) with other healthcare professionals: such as referrals to specialists, for example.

We need to keep comprehensive and accurate personal data about our patients in order to provide them with safe and appropriate dental care.

We will process personal data that we hold about you in the following way:

We will retain your dental records while you are a practice patient. If you cease to be a patient, we will continue to hold them for at least another ten years, or in the case of children until they reach the age of 25, whichever is the longer.

Personal data about you is held in a manual filing system. The information is not accessible to the public and only authorised members of staff have access to it. .

In order to provide proper and safe dental care, we may need to disclose personal information about you to:

- Your general medical practitioner;

- The hospital or community dental services;
- Other health professionals caring for you;
- HMRC;
- Private dental schemes of which you are a member;
- Our dental defence organisation, insurers and/or legal advisers (if you make a complaint or commence/threaten to commence legal processes).

Disclosure will take place on a "need-to-know" basis. Information will only be given to those individuals/organisations who need to have it in order to provide care to you or to resolve issues arising out of that care and for the proper administration of Government (whose personnel are also covered by strict confidentiality rules). The recipient will only be given the information that they need to know for these purposes.

In very limited circumstances or when required by law or by a court order, personal data may have to be disclosed to a third party not connected with your dental care. In all other situations, disclosure that is not covered by this Policy will occur only when we have your specific consent. Where possible you will be informed of these requests for disclosure.

You have the right to access the data that we hold about you and to receive a copy. Access may be obtained by making a request in writing. A fee will not be charged for this unless multiple applications are made.

If you move to another dental practice we may (at our discretion) loan original x-rays and provide copy notes direct to that practice free of charge on receipt of a written request from them to do so, and with your written consent

The Practice Director maintains a summary of all requests for access to records, disclosures, consent to disclosure and reasons for refusing access: refer to office document database.

If you do not wish personal data we hold about you to be disclosed or used in the way that is described in this Policy, please discuss the matter with your dentist. You have the right to object, but please remember that this may affect our ability to provide you with dental care.
